Dear Senator:

Enclosed are two bombshells from the Hominy, Okla., "correspondent," particularly her letter.

If it is true that the Dallas paper got that diary extract from a "Warren Commission man in town here," that's quite startling and very serious. Personally, I doubt it, but at the same time this is something that might bear looking into. Certainly it should be easy for the Commission to check, especially if it did have an agent in Dallas when this story broke.

The big question arises that if he was there, what was he doing with the diary, or how did he have access to it? Also, why would he make it available to the paper? That's a particularly pertinent question.

The other item about Molinas is also intriguing. Of course, it too could be merely rumor and hearsay, but it may be worth a check.

Best regards,

Robert S. Allen
